welcome to our elaborate collection of treasures!

Tea Squared is a Toronto based artisanal Tea company with deep roots in the tea industry.

I have searched the globe for the purest ingredients over the last 24 years and have had the pleasure to meet some of the most wonderful and passionate people out there. These friendships have made it possible to bring some of the finest, purest and most interesting teas and ingredients to Canada. We take great pride in developing our teas and blend them in our Toronto facility.

We want to be mindful of how we impact nature and inspire others to do the same. That's why our teas are ethical sourced, sustainable and constantly tested for purity. Our teas are non GMO, gluten free and we don't use any artificial ingredients.

organic matcha for retail

40 gr. Bags
it's only natural.

matcha goes mainstream

More than a thousand years ago, Buddhist monks in Japan began a daily ritual of grinding green tea leaves into powder, mixing it into hot water with a bamboo whisk, then sharing the tea from a single cup. Today, Matcha is considerably less monastic. It's being blended into lattes, dusted onto cheesecakes, mixed into chocolate, even infused in bourbon.

Ingredients: Organic Japanese Matcha

Houjicha Organic

Popular Japanese twig tea. Hojicha is harvested in the pristine Mie prefecture and charcoal roasted.

Most Japanese teas are steamed and this process imparts a unique robust malty aroma on this beautiful nutty tea. Low in caffeine.

Ingredients: Green tea

Long Jing Pre-Qingming Xi HU Organic

Long Jing green tea is among the top teas in China. It has also earned a reputation as "The Queen of Green Tea." Long Jing has a long history that dates back to the Song Dynasty. Authentic Long Jing is grown in five villages surrounding the famous Xihu (West Lake) in Hangzhou. Shifeng (Lion Summit) village produces the best of the best. Pre-Qingming Long Jing must be picked before the Qingming Festival, beginning of April. Due to the small annual yield and the high domestic demand in China, authentic Pre-Qingming Xi Hu Long Jing is very exclusive and difficult to obtain. The perfect green bud-sets exude a warm chestnut flavour and the tea broth is round, mellow and brisk

Ingredients: Green tea

oolong

Oolong Ti Kwan Yin Organic (Iron goddess)

Famous China oolong. Fragrant scents of wild orchids are predominant in the first infusion that changes into a toasty and more robust flavour later on. Beautiful representation of an oolong. Oolongs have been used for centuries to help with weight loss.

Ingredients: Oolong tea

Skinny Wulong

From mount Wuyi. These teas have shown to increase metabolism and help with weight loss. We supercharged this Wulong by putting the lime in the coconut and making it one of our most delicious blends. Smooth and refreshing. Like an instant vacation.

Ingredients: Wulong tea, coconut, white bean pods, apple pieces, lime leaves, lime zest, safflower petals, natural flavours, marigold petals

Turmeric Slim Down

Semi oxidized Oolong has been used for a long time to aid with digestion and help with weight loss. We have given this tea a delicious new twist with the addition of a well known healthy tonic. Turmeric forms a perfect alliance with fruity undertones and makes this one of our most delicious blends.

Ingredients: Oolong tea, pineapple bits, ginger, carob bits, banana chips, cinnamon, Sweet potato, coconut chips, natural flavour, cardamom green, turmeric, black pepper, cloves, stevia leaves

Gaba Oolong Organic

This meticulously crafted gem comes from Aowanda mountain in Nantou, Taiwan. Made from the Jin Xuan cultivar at 1300 meters altitude and harvested in the summer. The Gaba process uses a special oxygen-free fermentation process. Gaba has been attributed with additional health benefits but we love this tea for its amazing flavour and level of craftsmanship. Infusions reveal great structure, sweetness and flavours of chestnut and passion fruit.

Ingredients: Oolong tea

Hand sorting. Dhankuta - Nepal

Guangzhou Milk Oolong

This pungent oolong has been processed painstakingly by steaming the fresh leaves over cauldrons of fresh milk. The tea retains a spectacular creamy flavour and a bouquet of fresh milk. It doesn't contain lactose. A truly beautiful experience. Oolongs have been used for centuries to help with weight loss.

Wenshan Bao Zhong

Lightly oxidized Pouchong, grown in Pingling from the Qing Xin varietal. This "Blue Heart" Baozhong is grown in the best area – Wen mountain by Mr. Ong. Beautiful fresh and fragrant with floral nuances of green peas, buttery corn and a slight mineral finish.

Spice Route Oolong Chai

Thick, rich and satisfying chai blend. Different than most, this Oolong chai uses the finest dark teas and exotic spices. Great natural sweetness imparts on the brew after a few minutes. Lingering tastes of spice and sweetness make for a memorable brew.

Ingredients: Oolong tea, liquorice, cardamom, cinnamon, cloves

Formosa Oolong

This is a very dark oolong. It has been oxidized more than other oolongs and imparts a rich, toasty flavour with woody undertones.

Not your typical oolong but delicious and great for breakfast. Oolongs have been used for centuries to help with weight loss.

Tie Quan Yin – Deep Baked Oolong

Harvested from perhaps the most famous location in Taiwan – Ali Shan. Responsibly grown by the Chen family from the Tie Quan Tin Cultivar at 1100 meters. Deep charcoal firing has imparted a deeply satisfying smokey flavour of roasted nuts, dried fruit and spices on this tea. This small batch spring harvest leaves a complex, lingering finish on the palate.

Rou Gui

The cousin of the famous Da Hong Pao. Our Rou Gui has undergone multiple charcoal roastings and comes from the famous rock gardens in Wuyi. Full flavour and aromas of baked yams, cinnamon and roasted chestnuts are typical for this smokey

"Yancha" (Rock tea).

Dong Ding Oolong

Dong Ding (frozen Peak) is found on the mountain by the same name in Nantou county. Jin Xuan is the plant varietal that produces these elegant, nutty, complex, creamy aromas with subtle spice. This winter harvest was carefully baked by Mrs. Yuwen and makes for a great and satisfying sip.

Ingredients: Oolong tea

Ginseng Oolong

This tea is a flavourful experience. Tightly rolled Oolong is dusted with ground ginseng and licorice root.

The licorice imparts a beautiful sweet lingering flavour to the tea. A bold and beautiful tea.

Ingredients: Oolong tea, ginseng, licorice.

Da Hong Pao – Big Red Robe

One of the most famous teas in China, Da Hong Pao 'Big Red Robe', or more poetically, 'Grand Scarlet Robe' is surrounded by myth and legend. This is believed to be a wild variety, naturally adapted to the rocky cliffs of the Wuyi Mountains in northern Fujian. For many years, the extremely limited harvest plucked from these trees was reserved for China's most elite tea drinkers, and was even presented to President Nixon when he visited in 1972. Today, harvesting from the four original trees has been banned altogether.

Bai Hao – Oriental Beauty Organic

Also called Dongfang Meiren is a heavily oxidized, non-roasted oolong tea with a high content of young buds. Originating in Hsinchu County, Taiwan. Our Bai Hao was produced by the Hsinchu Farmer Association and is a winner of the 2019 competition. It is a tea produced from leaves bitten by the tea Jassid, an insect that feeds on the tea plant. Terpenes are released in the bitten leaves, which creates a honey-like taste. The tea has natural fruity and sweet honey-like aromas with intense fragrance and complexity. It produces a reddish-orange color, without any bitterness. This tea has been produced organically without the use of any pesticides.

pu-erh

Ingredients: Pu-erh tea

Gong Ting Ripe Shou Pu-Erh Cake 2018 Vintage

This top-grade Shou Pu-erh cake is produced with a highly fermented pile. The leaves are plucked from trees between 30 and 50 years of age outside of Lincang – Yunnan at an elevation of 1560 meters. These mountain tea gardens produce rich minerals and a pleasant aroma of dried dates and leather.

Lao Bai Cha 2017 Vintage

Lao Bai Cha is grown in the Wa Kan Shan tea garden in Yunnan Province, China, just outside of Simao Prefecture. The region is well-known for its Pu Erh tea. The bushes are a hybrid of Qun Ti Zhong, a common cultivar in the region. The Indian Ocean has an impact on the climate of Yunnan (particularly South Yunnan). Every year from October to April, the weather is very hot and dry, providing optimal growing conditions for tea plants. This tea displays smooth undertones of fresh-cut hay and sweet plums.

Shou Pu-erh Coins

These individually pressed coins are not just an incredible visual experience but like most teas, come with a bit of history. Tea was a valuable commodity in the olden days and served as currency on the ancient trading routes. Tea coins like these came with a scar through the middle so they could easily be broken off.

Ingredients: Pu-erh tea
